On Friday, May 26, the CCPA and KRVM's Sounds Global proudly welcome La Inedita. La Inedita is a Peruvian band that formed in Lima in 2010. What makes this band so unique is the music mix of dancehall, hip-hop, rapping and Chicha (a Peruvian cumbia style).

“La Inedita: Leaders of the new Peruvian urban cumbia,” proclaims Latino Life / UK. “Direct from the barrio of La Victoria, Lima... La Inedita are tough! Often drawing on their cumbia or reggae roots these guys are the leaders of Peru’s urban underground.”

Finding each other through an Internet network, the band members first got together just to jam and have fun. From their very first jam session, however, the idea of blending different styles to come up with a musical fusion was present. They came up with what they call Chichamuffin – a mix of Chicha with ragamuffin.

Soon La Inedita began to play in the many venues of Barranco and downtown Lima. At music festivals and college campus celebrations they shared the stage with well-known Peruvian bands such as La Sarita, Bareto, La Montez, Sabor y Control, Vieja Skina, etc.

Calling them, “One of the more impressive of these groups,” Afropop Worldwide reports, “La Inedita plays a combination of Chicha, a style of cumbia influenced surf-rock and psychedelia that was popular in the 70’s, as well as dancehall/reggae burners, that is all topped off by rapid fire Spanish rapping/singing in a style somewhat reminiscent of reggae-tion. The group's blend is made more impressive by their evident instrumental talent; the guitar solos sting and bite, the rapper can really flow, the rhythm section is able to generate both genuinely threatening intensity and a dance floor filling groove (and often both at the same time).”

La Inedita recently released their album Chichamuffin, which is available to listen to online as well as to download for free on their website: www.lainedita.com.

Tickets are $12 in advance, $15 at the door. Doors open at 8:00 pm and showtime is 9:00.

CCPA ANNUAL MEETING REPORT

By Bob Fennessy

The Community Center for the Performing Arts hosted the WOW Hall Annual Membership Meeting on Wednesday, April 12, 2017. Ninety-one members gathered to approve the organization’s policy statement and budget, and to elect members to the board of directors. This is more than double the previous year’s attendance.

Thank you to Mezza Luna Pizza and Track Town Pizza for their donations to our pregathering social.

Members present approved the following Policy Statement: “For the fiscal year starting July 1, 2017 it will continue to be the general policy of the CCPA/WOW Hall to serve all ages, nationalities, races, ethnicities, genders, sexual orientations, abilities, and religions of our community without discrimination. This includes the staff, CCPA members, volunteers, community members, and Board of Directors of our organization. We will embrace our community and involve our membership in as many ways as possible. We will continue to operate with financial care on all projects and decisions. All construction and expansions will be done with respect and compliance to the WOW Hall’s historic requirements. Further, it will continue to be the goal to expand financially as we look forward to the long-term viability of our organization.”

Members were presented with a comprehensive, 17-page written report (available at the WOW Hall office) that includes Staff Reports, Staff Management Report, Profit & Loss Statement, Revenue and Expense graphs, Reports from the Facilities, Fundraising/Education and Personnel Committees, Proposed Budget and Capital Budget, and Organization Goals.

Staff Area Reports: Concessions managers Angela Lees and Shawn Lynch have added Kama Meeta-Mirrors to their crew. Things are running smoothly with the new coolers, a new kegerator and floor mats purchased with a donation by Craig Lawrence (& matching grant). Publicist and Membership Coordinator Bob Fennessy thanked the publicity team (James Bitterman, Ross Shuler, Zac Townsend & the poster crew) and pointed out that all WOW Hall members were part of the Publicity Crew. Danny Novall was introduced at the new head Custodian. He and Assistant Custodian Eric Herz have been working to complete the Interior Restoration Project. Justin Showker was introduced as the new Stage Manager. He introduced Davis Koer (Monitors-Front of House) and Cody Owen (Lighting Director) and spoke of equipment upgrades. Volunteer Coordinator Laura Farrell oriented 135 new volunteers to the WOW Hall. Volunteers filled 2,966 show positions and logged 6,624 hours in 2016/17. Volunteers are constantly learning on the job skills and teamwork. Bookkeeper Melissa Spanwan reported an $18,600 increase in net revenue over the last fiscal year so far. A one-dollar on-line ticketing service charge introduced a year ago has the organization on track to break even this year. House Manager Sam Harmon introduced second new HM Jaky Olina. They have been working on procedures to move people through the door more swiftly. Megan Bennor was introduced as the WOW Hall’s newly hired Programming Manager.

Management report identified the year’s top selling in-house shows as Assop Rock, Danny Brown, High Step Society, Tisha Rashad, K-Flay, Louis The Child, Quinn XCII, Warsky and What So Not. Artistic highlights of the year include Hari’s Loupe Mask, The Dirty Walruses, Carl Verheyen, Laura Martling, Ylourious White, Terry Buzoo, Portugal, The Man, Over The Rhine, Wild Child, the NYT, Psychedelic Ball, Koffer Williams, K-Wahro, Ladysmith Black Mambazo, Elephant Revival, Adrian Legg, Old 97s and Mount Eerie. Educational opportunities included monthly volunteer orientations, Girl Circus, two Music’s Edge Summer Rock Camps, Bass Camp, Dance Empowered, Ecstatic Dance, West African Dance and Drum, and the new WOW Wellness Collective and Self-Defense Class. Community partnerships include City of Eugene, UO, Lane Arts Council, Whitaker Block Party, OSPL Arts & Culture Program, Edison Elementary, Network Charter School, Gateway High and the Women’s March, which may have been the WOW Hall’s single largest attendance day, ever.

Bob Fennessy presented the Staff Report and thanked Calyn Kelly for his service as stage manager, sound engineer and program manager. He recalled how Calyn stepped in and volunteered to do booking after a previous manager left unexpectedly, and has continued to do so ever after starting another job in January. In the past, people who have made exceptional contributions that saved the WOW Hall in a time of crisis, were made lifetime members, and the staff recommended that Calyn be so honored. The audience voiced hearty agreement. Treasurer Jon Silvermoon presented the Financial Committee report. The CCPA’s current Profit & Loss statement shows a current net loss of $6,149 for the fiscal year with three months remaining; Jon expressed concern that seven of the ten previous years had shown a net loss.

The Facilities Committee report was made by Aaron Dietrich and Jon Pines. The Interior Restoration Project is ongoing including wall and wood work, finish a floor in the original tile pattern. Construction and engineering were achieved for two authentic historic stile flaps (with two remaining) with funding provided by the City of Eugene and private donations. The south side windows will be repaired with a City of Eugene Historic Restoration Grant.

Mike Jane reported that the Fundraising/Education Committee focused on grant projects, developing a Multicultural and Educational Programming project and making applications to the Lane County Cultural Coalition and Coquille Tribal Community Fund. The applications were turned down but the organization was encouraged to reapply. Mike thanked the Lane Arts Council for a grant award of $600. Over the coming year the committee will work on a Capacity Building/General Manager Project, Community Education/Awareness and other fundraising.

The Personnel Committee, also chaired by Mike Janes, has worked to define job descriptions, make changes to staff wages and payroll process, and continue the staff performance appraisal process begun last year.

The Board of Directors presented a recommended Budget for 2017/18 of $472,940 that was broken down into $247,000 Operating Expenses and $225,258 Production Expenses. When someone asked why the budget was $100,000 more than the previous one it was explained that $51,248 in capital projects was included in the budget but could not be spent unless the funds applied for were actually awarded. The budget was approved.

Next up was the Public Comments section. Many in the audience voiced a desire for more opportunities for local acts to play the WOW Hall. Also suggested were: LED stair lighting, more diversity of age & demographics, advance statements from candidates & absentee ballots, base- ment shows, finished mural, promote the Cultural Trust, staff/ board retreat, talk to growers about donations, better ventilation downstairs, rent Keesey Square to put on events for donation, bake sale/car wash/raffle, road signs with schedule, add to reserves, make space for organizing/move- ment stuff.

Nominations were then taken for the Board of Directors. With six seats up for election, the vote would determine four two-year positions and two terms of one year.

An unprecedented 16 members accepted nomination to the board (although one later removed him- self from consideration). The candidates were: Aaron Dietrich, Bryan Calza, Hannah Finley, Heather Kliever, Holly Caswell, Jim Showker, Jon Mathison, Jona Waterstone, Jordan Cogburn, Marjorie Bridges, Marlene Monette, Mike Franklin, Rachel Thiemeyer, Steve Lasky and Tim Mueller.

As each candidate made their acceptance speech and spoke of the love they had for the WOW Hall, it became abundantly clear that the organization had a wealth of community support that was strong and deep. When the votes were tallied, Aaron Dietrich, Hannah Finley, Jon Showker and Marlene Monette were elected for two years. Jordan Cogburn and Marjorie Bridges were selected to fill the remaining year of two uncompleted terms.

The next Board of Directors meeting will include election of board officers. All CCPA board meetings are open to the general public.

We can’t let this rhetoric scare us. As a descendant of African-Americans, we’ve been scared, and fighting through quite a lot, and this is just another chapter. I’m glad that everybody else is joining the party right now,” he writes on his website.

On Tuesday, May 9, the Community Center for the Performing Arts and University of Oregon Campus Radio 88.1 FM KWVA proudly welcomes Oddisee & Good Company “Beneath the Surface Tour” featuring special guests Oliveri St. Louis and B.K.A. Jr.

Horns boldly sound as I press play on track one, “Digging Deep” which is more than a song title, it is the way Oddisee lives life. Before Spring Equinox, the 32-year-old performer and East Coast resident released a new album called The Iceberg — his 12th album since 2011 — which is a radical blend of hip-hop and family-friendly rap.

I am surprised how deeply affected and enlivened I am after watching a two minute video interview by “Complex Live” where Oddisee speaks from the heart, and affirms a commitment to equality of race and religion.

Oddisee continues by bravely sharing about growing up as a Muslim, and his opposition to the recent executive order halting immigration from seven countries — including Sudan, his patrilineal country. Oddisee expresses our need to act in track four, “Hold It Back”, saying, “being quiet is a crime.” Voicing to “Complex Live”, “I feel like it’s innate. I feel like I have to do it, with no one asking me. It’s a part of my DNA. It’s who I am.”

Well-articulated spoken word fills me with emotions as I listen to the story of “You Grew Up” (track five); knowing the heat of this hardship is just another chapter. I’m glad that everybody else is joining the party right now,” he writes on his website.

Oddisee strives for depth, quality and personality, “I wanted to give my best effort to show the aspiring artists in the community that faults and mistakes are real, necessary, and okay. I’m looking forward to getting it right over the course of this tour.”

Be it Oddisee’s dedication to writing rhymes outside, the vocal harmonies of track eight (“Want To Be”), your desire to have fun, or the contagiousness of GOOD COMPANY, this phenomenal show can satisfy your hunger. Plus a northbound, luxurious hitchhike can keep the inspiration potent on May 10 as this fusion with Oliver St. Louis has tickets are $12 in advance, $14 at the door. Doors open at 8:00 pm and showtime is 9:00.

WILLAMETTE LEADERSHIP ACADEMY BENEFIT

On Saturday, May 20, Vial... experiment headlines a Benefit For Willamette Leadership Academy with special guests Minor Anomaly and Gemini Rising. Vial...experiment is a hard rock/metal band hailing from Eugene with a live show that brings both excitement and energy to any stage they play. The band was formed in 2007 by Kevin Wayne “Kevrar” Richardson (vocals/guitar) and has had a few lineup changes along the way. Mike Nelson (guitar), F.A. (bass) and Tim Benton (drums) round out the current lineup.

Vial...experiment is a power, house musical juggernaut with an imminent album release and tour dates coming soon. Formed in 2007 by Kevin Wayne “Kevrar” Richardson guitar/vocals, with a few lineup changes along the way, Mike Nelson/guitar, F.A./bass, Tim Benton/drums round out the line-up.

Minor Anomaly is a northwest hard rock band formed from the ashes of a couple heavy weights. Drummer Zach Rowe hails from Oregon and his Prog/Rock band 10 Pound Test. Bass player and vocalist Floyd Jr. McCullough comes from local band Forrestall’s Fall (in which Zach was also the guitar player). Guitarist Xiao Zoa is a Texas transplant known locally as the guitar player and drummer from the Linden Wood Band, as well as the guitar player for Americanan band Jake Payne and the Dixie Creek. Together they have created a magical musical relationship that can only be explained as a Minor Anomaly.

Gemini Rising is fronted by singer-pianist-guitarist Jessica Hauckel. Jessica released the EP Insects in 2010 and the full length If in 2014. Tickets are $5 in advance, $8 at the door. Doors open at 6:30 pm and showtime is 7:00.

ODE TO FRAMEWORKS

On Wednesday, May 31, the CCPA and U. of O. Campus Radio 88.1 FM KWVA proudly welcome Frameworks to the WOW Hall along with special guests Tor and Lapa.

Tides is the debut album from Manchester-based producer Matt Brewer aka Frameworks. Since the release of his first EP Yarning back in 2012, Frameworks has been building a loyal following for his atmospheric and haunting compositions. Tides sees him joining the dots between instrumental hip-hop heroes Amin & RJD2, the epic soundscapes of Cinematic Orchestra and the deft songwriting of Bonobo.

Previous collaborators Rizghnach Connolly and JP Cooper return for the album with two tracks apiece. Rizghnach gives a captivating vocal performance on lead single “Calm The Still Night” and the brooding “Dawn”, whilst JP (recently signed to Island Records) brings raw soul to “Old Friend” and “No Place To Hide Away”.

The bedrock of the album is instrumental with Frameworks’ trademark string-laden productions taking in cinematic jazz (“Patience”), folk (“End”) and more up-tempo fare in the shape of “Breathing Light” and “A New Sun”. Tides shows just how accomplished Frameworks is as a producer and composer, showing a lightness of touch and genuine song-writing talent that few can emulate.

Emerging in late 2012, Tor’s debut album Drum Therapy was the culmination of more than a decade of quietly honing his craft. After catching the attention of Emancipator, it became the first release to launch his new label Loci Records. Even though Tor’s background had been strictly studio-based, he quickly found foot-ing performing at festivals such as Shambhala, BassCoast, What The Festival and Burning Man, in addition to remixing artists like ODESZA.

Now Tor returns with his sophomore album Blue Book. It’s a record that plays like a journey, with rhythmic bell patterns, chopped vocal harmonies, atmospheric swells, warm bass lines, and a newfound love of analog synthesizers all taking his songs to new levels.

Ilya Goldberg began training in classical violin at an early age in his birthplace before moving to the States in 2005 to pursue music full-time. Playing with the moniker Lapa, Ilya blurs borders and transcends boundaries, illuminating the resonance of universal forces and teleporting people to wild, dream-like places of serenity and connection.

Tickets are $14 in advance, $15 at the door. Doors open at 8:00 pm and show begins at 9:00 pm.

COM TRUISE & CLARK
THE WORLD’S FIRST SYNTHETIC/ROBOTIC ASTRONAUT

By Jordan Hall

On Sunday, May 7th, the CCPA and University of Oregon Campus Radio 88.1 FM KWVA proudly welcome Com Truise and Clark.

Seth Haley, better known under his alias Com Truise, has been on the music scene for over a decade, creating music under an array of alter egos. Haley introduced, “the world’s first synthetic/robotic astronaut” debuting his first EP, Cyanide Sisters.

The production sound of Com Truise is further established through his most recent release in 2014 of Wave 1. The title of the album illustrates the never before seen galaxy to which the astronaut’s voyages take him, and the album itself brings to life the sound of the intergalactic space voyager as a combination of synth-funk and electro, while playing with contemporary sounds of 80’s pop.

It is his latest album that holds the next set of adventures the astronaut will undergo and promises to explore themes of “longing, hope, anxiety and triumph”. The album is to be released in June, making it the first album by Com Truise in six years with all-new material. It is expected to hold the story of the voyager’s last moments on the planet of Wave 1 before he and his alien lover escape its clutches to live in peace.”

The music Haley is creating through this album, reflects on his own experiences in moving from his East Coast home to Southern California, which makes the story that much more intimate and beautiful. If the lead single, “Memory”, is any indication of the direction of the album, it is sure to hold sensual synthis wave vibes that will have you grooving until the end of his journey.

Clark will have his ninth studio full length on Warp Records released in February 2017. The live show will feature dancers Kiani Del Valle and Melanie Lane, costumes by Alexander McQueen and live projection mapping from Kit Webster and Matt Pyle.

The electronic and techno genius that is Clark, coupled with Com Truise, can only mean a night that will transport you across space and time into another dimension.

Tickets are $15 in advance and $17 at the door. Doors open at 8:00 pm and the show starts at 9:00 pm.

JUNE ARRIVES IN MAY LARRY JUNE, THAT IS

On Friday, May 12, the Community Center for the Performing Arts and Dead Nation Presents proudly welcome Warner Brothers recording artist Larry June to the WOW Hall.

Touring in support of his new EP Larry Two, Larry June considers himself a storyteller speaking for the streets, and considers his music to be a testament of the pain and trials of the ghetto. June further believes that, due to lack of guidance and strong family structure, many disadvantaged youth are left alone to struggle to make ends meet.

Born in San Francisco to teen parents residing in the Bay View Hunters Point District, June entered the world with all odds against him. At the tender age of five, he relocated to Atlanta, Georgia with his mother. There he would be exposed to the “Crunk/Southern” style of hip-hop and it would be there that he began to develop a true passion for music.

After age five June would begin to spend his summers with his father in San Francisco. During those periods he would spend numerous hours in studio recording sessions with his father. To keep June busy, his father purchased him a keyboard and within one summer’s visit June was able teach himself how to create his own music without any professional training. He began fluently rapping at the age of eight.

Dropping his first mixed tape at the age of 15; June remains true to his urban/southern roots but is still able to showcase his Bay Area/California style – displaying his versatility by representing for the streets as well as showing a more loving side. His online success shows that he represents what’s on the minds and in the hearts of youth today.

Now at 23 years of age, June is constantly focused on developing and refining his skills as a rapper, songwriter and producer. Larry has worked with producers and artists from HBK to E-40 and continues to establish himself as himself as one of the Bay Area’s upcoming talents.

Tickets are $15 in advance, $17 at the door. Doors open at 8:00 pm and showtime is 9:00 pm.
On Saturday, May 6, InSight Eugene presents Cashmere Cat along with special guest Kingdom.

In anticipation of his long-awaited debut album, Cashmere Cat is touring North America with dates in Dallas, Austin, Boston, Philadelphia, Seattle, Los Angeles and more. Wild Love, Cashmere Cat’s first full-length album, is set for release later this year.

Cashmere Cat capped off a banner 2016 with the release of Throw Myself a Party featuring 2 Chainz, Tory Lanez and Starrah. The album’s title track featuring The Weeknd and Francis and the Lights also debuted last year and topped Spotify charts worldwide.

Tory Lanez’s “LUV,” produced by Cashmere Cat in collaboration with Benny Blanco, is nominated for a 2017 GRAMMY Award for Best R&B Song after peaking at #1 on both the Urban and Rhythmic radio charts.

Since emerging in 2012, Cashmere Cat has become one of the most sought-after producers in the world. The FADER praises his, “immersing, genre-hopping instrumentals,” for Kanye West, The Weeknd, Ariana Grande, Miguel, Tory Lanez, Charli XCX, A$AP Ferg, Tinashe and many more while SPIN calls him a “a pop mega-force.” He has also released two critically acclaimed EPs — Mirror Maru on Pelican Fly and Wedding Bells on Lucky Me.

Cashmere Cat is Norwegian producer Magnus August Høiberg. Wild Love is set for release on Benny Blanco’s Mad Love imprint on Interscope Records.

Tickets are $20 advance, $23 day of show. Doors open at 8:00 pm and showtime is 9:00 pm.

On Sunday, May 21, the CCPA and University of Oregon Campus Radio 88.1 FM KWVA proudly welcome All Hail the Yeti, Invidia and BrokenRail.

Heavy music upholds a long tradition of storytelling. It’s been carried from woods and fields to streets, cities, and beyond. All Hail The Yeti continue that ritual on their second full-length album and first for minus HEAD Records, Screams From A Black Wilderness. The Los Angeles quartet — Connor Garritty [vocals], Nicholas Diltz [bass], Ryan “Junior” Kittlitz [drums], and Alan Stokes [guitar] —weave together vivid, vibrant, and visceral tales with sprawling, slick, and spattering metallic grooves.

“We always want each song to tell a story in and of itself,” says Garrity. “The record comes together like a book of short scary stories you can recount in the dark around a campfire.” Following a successful European tour supporting 36 Crazyfists in early 2015, All Hail The Yeti returned home and began to etch the outline for these sonic sagas. Teaming up with metal luminary producer Matt Hyde [Deftones, Slayer, Hatebreed], they recorded the 13 tracks that would become Screams From A Black Wilderness at NRG Studios and Hydeaway Studios.

All Hail The Yeti first emerged from the streets of Hollywood in 2006, touring a delicate balance of Acid Bath-drenched sludge, grooves a la Pantera, and a healthy dose of Motley Crue-style excess and infectiousness. The group became a fan favorite on the road, supporting the likes of In This Moment, Hollywood Undead, Motionless In White, and more. Now, their stories stand poised to infect all of heavy music.

Invidia is a project of rock veterans Travis Johnson (In This Moment) on vocals; Brian Jackson (Skinlab) guitars/vocals; Matt Snell (5 Finger Death Punch) bass; Logan Mader (Once Human, Machine Head) as producer, Marcos Medina (Skinlab, TMG) guitars and Darren Badotrine on drums. While the ten-legged Las Vegas based wrecking crew certainly bring elements of their other bands to Invidia’s sound — this is a beast that stands apart, and their debut As The Sun Sleeps makes this very clear.

Following the path set by leg ends such as Godsmack, Averaged Sevenfold, Hinder and Shinedown to name a few, Alabama rockers BrokenRail set out to make their own mark in modern music with their own blend of post-grunge rock. The band consists of Blake Clawson [vocals] Dave Delaczur (guitar) Dick Black (bass) and Alex Hilton [drums].

Tickets are $10 in advance, $12 at the door. Doors open at 7:00 pm and showtime is 8:00 pm.
